

Etienne Bacher

Luxembourg Institute of Socio-Economic Research
11, Porte des Sciences
L-4366 Esch-sur-Alzette/Belval, Luxembourg

etienne.bacher@liser.lu
www.etiennebacher.com
github.com/etiennebacher

Education

2020 – current	PhD Candidate in Economics	LISER, Luxembourg
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Topic: “Cross-border labor mobility, attitudes and political preferences”• Supervisors: Michel Tenikue, Michel Beine
2018 – 2020	Master’s Degree in Development Economics	CERDI, Clermont-Ferrand, France
2017 – 2018	Bachelor’s Degree in Development Economics	CERDI, Clermont-Ferrand, France

Professional experience

2020 (2 months)	Internship as research assistant	CERDI, Clermont-Ferrand, France
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Built a dataset on the sovereignty of small islands.• Created an application with R Shiny to explore this dataset.
2019 (2 months)	Internship as research assistant	High-Commission for Planning, Rabat, Morocco
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Production of a report: “Labor market and poverty in Morocco” (in French & English)• Made the literature review, treated survey data, applied Econometric methods (logistic regression, probit model) using Stata on about 200,000 observations, and participated to the redaction.

Works in progress

Do anti-immigration attitudes discourage migrants from coming?, with Michel Beine and Hillel Rapoport

Conferences & workshops

2022: “Globalization, Attitudes and Populism” workshop

2021: Population Association of America (Discussant)

Relevant activities

Co-organizer of the Economics of Migration Junior seminar

Teaching

International Economics (Fall 2021), 3rd year Bachelor

Computer skills

Advanced: R

Intermediate: Stata, LaTeX, HTML, CSS

Basic: Matlab, JavaScript, GAMS

Misc: Ubuntu/Linux

Languages

French (native), English (fluent), Spanish (basic)

CV last updated on April 06, 2022